<td>What we can do is, we can update you folks in regards to what the Health Department has been doing in relationship to COVID-19. We have been meeting with our partners in the community. The Hospital, Parkview Physicians, EMS, EMA, 9-1-1 to try and make sure we are all on the same page in regards to it. And Rachel can give you kind of an update of where things are at in Ohio as far as this is related and just kind of go through and hit some highlights as to what we know and what is going on.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11:02:00 AM</td>

<td>So COVID-19, the information related to that is changing quickly, day-to-day, so what I am going to report number wise is what I know as of right now and will likely be updated later today by the Center for Disease Control. Nationally, there are overly 200 cases that are lab confirmed of Corona Virus Disease 2019. And there have been a total of 11 deaths. Currently CDC has 19 reporting illnesses. However, later today that number will be updated and increased to</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
reflect weekend activity by the CDC. Ohio has of right now has zero lab confirmed cases of the new Coronavirus. However they are anticipating the first one at any point in time really. The message is that it is just a matter of time and that persons in the public need to take this seriously and consider how it might be affecting their daily lives and daily operations. Because in order to disrupt the disease transmission of a virus without a vaccine available it comes back to what we call non-pharmaceutical interventions which are hand washing, respiratory etiquette, encouraging employers to consider having persons work from off-site if possible. But knowing that is not possible for every place, but when it is to do that. And also be planning and coordinated together between health care and public health to conduct surveillance of disease transmission in the community. For public health to contact investigations, which means identifying persons who have been exposed to a confirmed case and having them take appropriate, whether that be a health quarantine or isolation.

Jim W

So I think our main thing that we have been working with is like, our providers are, a lot of their questions are with testing and trying to make sure that they understand how that works, is it available, how would they go through that process. And also talking like with the EMS a bit from the standpoint of protection of their workers should they get exposed. Because one of the things, what Rachel is talking about, when we get into case contact investigation that you know, there is a potential of somebody being in a 14 day quarantine which could really hurt operations for an entity like that. So definitely trying to talk to people. Talking with nursing homes. We are planning on trying to pull a meeting together because there are particulars in regards to, that is the age group that we are really concerned about. So we are just trying to make sure that communication is happening. We are meeting every Monday at the hospital just to try to keep everybody on the same page because as Rachel said events are changing. As far as that goes there is a lot of concern about N-95-S. A lot of people are concerned whether medical providers will be able to get that by seeing nationally there is a shortage, things of that nature. On our side that is kind of what we are doing. So that's what we have. We are trying to work with partners. Also the Ohio Department of Health on their website has an 800 number that is available now. Up and running last Friday just for the general public so that people can get answers to questions they might have. It is 1-833-427-5634. So the thing to us is that will hopefully allay some fears people may have and so they can get the "straight up" about that. So we are certainly encouraging the public to go to that. The Ohio Department of Health and our website links directly to that so people can get the most up to date information about what is going on. That is what we have.

11:06:41 AM

TR

Well I think the thing that I heard that was most enlightening was that probably everybody may become infected with this and 90% of us won't know that it happened. It is that 10% risk which is the older population that we have to be, or immune system compromised and those things. Which are the people that have to be extremely cautious about and not transferring the disease to them. Is

<td>Yes. So because this is new the data numbers with this are going to change and fluctuate some as we understand this disease and virus transmission better. Right now about 80% of persons in the general public may experience mild symptoms where it may not cause, you know, cause them to have complicated health issues like pneumonia as a result of this. However, yes there are certain age groups where they are at a higher risk and older persons are definitely at a higher risk for having complications if they were infected with COVID-19. So while the whole public is, we are all different, right? And so we might all be affected a little differently, and as a healthy person your symptoms may be mild and it be an inconvenience to have a cold or an illness like that. However, that is not so much the case for older people. They have a higher risk for having complications and so that is why it is important for us to look at our long-term care facilities and make sure they have what they need. Because if you have persons concentrated together who are at a higher risk, it is easier for a virus to be transmitted. And so we also need to look at those special populations in our county and in our community because if they experience an increase in illness it will also affect those places of employment for their employees and also our health care system. And so any time we can slow disease transmission or prevent it that will benefit those high risks groups as well. So the general population does also need to take into consideration what they can do as well. And that may mean not visiting a person who might be at higher risk, even though they are a family member.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11:09:08 AM</td>
<td>Jim W.</td>
<td>So I think our other thing, working with our partners especially that we are very cognizant of, that we don't want to overwhelm our resources that we have, like at the hospital or PPG or any of those from a standpoint of that anything we can do to use these practices will help them so that they can go about their work. Because they have plenty to do as it is. We don't need to throw something else into it. So if there are things that we can do to prevent spread that is what we are, trying to work with the community as a whole to make sure that happens.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11:09:40 AM</td>
<td>TR/Jim W.</td>
<td>That was my advice to a friend this morning. I said you know, hey your parents are elderly, they are not in the greatest of health. If you are going to see them, why don't you see them today and maybe in the next few weeks you may not want to go see them, depending on how everybody is feeling. And I think the best thing we can do is just be aware of how we are feeling and what we are doing and whether we are going to visit and shake hands and the hugs and the kisses and all the fun stuff that people do. Maybe just keep the hand sanitizer close. Jim W: That's our side.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11:10:10 AM</td>
<td>BD</td>
<td>Any questions or comments?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
| 11:10:17 AM  | Dawn       | From the 9-1-1 side, probably at least 3 weeks ago, they, they being the APCO, national accreditation organization that we go through for the 9-1-1 telecommunicators, they changed the questions that we ask on 9-1-1 calls. If it is a respiratory or breathing difficulty type call to try to help make the EMS side aware. So that with something like this, it is not like a cardiac where seconds count, that if we have somebody that did travel to Italy and now is feeling, having respiratory, we have time to make contact with Jim and Jim can put the right people in the squad that he wants to get contaminated to get that person picked up. And then we also have time to let the ED know who is coming in or what's coming in so they can put all those pieces in place. So we are working with that. I think one of the concerns that we have had on the EMA side is from the county perspective all county offices are supposed to have a COOP. A Continuity of Operations Plan. And it takes time to do those, and every office is so busy it is hard to get it done. It is not something that EMA can do because I don't know what the critical functions and responsibilities of each of those offices or departments is. We can help provide templates. We can help put that together and then when each office or department has their COOP, at the county level we need a COG, Continuity of Government, so that again if we have mandatory isolation or mandatory quarantines, what functions have to be done, who is going to do them. And from the technological side of it, the IT side of it, how much of it can be done remotely. And I don't know that we have had very many conversations to get some of those pieces in place looking to the future. Because this is probably, it is not the first time it has happened and it is probably not going to be the last time. And with each scare, each incident, we can add a few more pieces to our overall plan by the time that we really need it, hopefully we are going to have it in place.

I know that the others, you and I have had this conversation but I just had a conversation with the Auditor who had absolutely no idea, doesn't know any of this. <td>I think what drove this conversation was Vickie got something from her association. Which we love our fellow associations on how they can help push us to be better every day. So like you said in 2012 SARS come through and we didn't need it. But is it time just to brush that up and make sure that we are ok. You know there is a laptop sitting here that I know can be connected remotely that has everything on it and can that go home with somebody if they need to work from home. But instead of jumping through, as Dawn was saying, instead of jumping through hoops and scrambling, can we have kind of a well thought out plan today instead of waiting for that to happen.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11:14:22 AM</td>
<td>JS/TR</td>
<td>There is a lot more scenarios out there than just illness. We have a rail system, we have a highway system. There are high risk chemicals and substances that travel those that could force an evacuation at any given time. And we need to be prepared for that. If not just by policy. What are the, I don't what all the functions are, but I would like to think that the county and places like to be paid so if our Auditor's office goes under quarantine, how are we going to carry that out? And that is on each office, obviously all the way up to you guys. Ok, if we have to execute this, you know, like Dawn said, I am in the same role as her. I am an advisor. I could help. But I don't know what everybody's, if the Recorder's office is quarantined, what are your core functions and how do you plan to carry this out? I mean, even in my last 10 years in this business, we all talk about it. We all acknowledge that we need to have it in place, but my observation it is really not, we are not putting the rubber to the road. TR: More work to do.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11:15:31 AM</td>
<td>JS</td>
<td>So I think, I mean, not to blow off COVID-19, but this needs to happen for more than just this one instance. And that was kind of my response back to Vickie and Dawn was, wait a second, we are not just talking the coronavirus here, we need to look at the big picture. These things need to be in place, period. And how are we going to respond as a county?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11:16:00 AM</td>

<td>Any other questions or comments? I assume that we will probably draft an email and we will send it out to find the status of each office and go from there.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11:16:12 AM</td>
<td>JS</td>
<td>I think that letter that Vickie had sent had, was a pretty good template to build from to send out and say ok, what are your core functions, and sit down and talk about it. And even if that has, with Dawn and I sitting down with each office and looking through some of these things.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11:16:35 AM</td>
<td>TR</td>
<td>And we know that we have connection to the Engineer's office so if something happened at the East Annex we know that we can get on the server from the Engineer's office. And we have backups. So just to put everybody's minds to rest somewhat it is not that we are not prepared. For goodness sakes I know that we can run the county from the Engineer's office. If we had to I guarantee you we could run this office from the Engineer's office. It may not be pretty.</td>
</tr>
